Crespo, IL DCEO Work to Promote Green Initiatives

HOFFMAN ESTATES, IL – On Tuesday, State Rep. Fred Crespo (D-Hoffman Estates) invited local officials to participate in Illinois Energy Now, an initiative by the Illinois Department of Commerce and Economic Opportunity (DCEO), to inform local officials how they can go green.

“It was great to see so many local government officials participating in this practical event,” Crespo said. “Hopefully we can work together to implement these cost-saving, environmentally friendly programs and improve this district’s efficiency.”

As part of the rate relief package of 2007, the program is funded by the state’s utility companies and is designed to provide financial assistance to local governments for electric and natural gas energy efficiency projects.

“I want to thank Rep. Crespo for bringing these resources to our community and hosting the program for local government officials,” Village of Streamwood Trustee James Cecille said. “This program offered many great ideas and I look forward to implementing these green initiatives and improving our local community.”
