Crespo to Host Phone Bill Clinic to Save Consumers Money

HOFFMAN ESTATES, IL – In concert with the Citizens Utility Board, State Rep. Fred Crespo (D-Hoffman Estates) will be hosting a free Phone Utility Clinic to help area residents find ways to save on their phone bills on Wednesday, December 7th at 1 p.m. at the Hoosier Grove Barn located on 700 W. Irving Park Road in Streamwood, Illinois.

“This event is a great opportunity to help resident reduce their phone bills and learn about other cost-saving measures,” Crespo said. “During these tough economic times, I want to provide resources to the community that will help ease their financial burden.”

Rep. Crespo has worked to relieve taxpayers during the economic downturn by hosting programs such as his Foreclosure Seminar and Illinois Energy Now. Additionally, he voted against the ComEd bill during this year’s fall veto session to prevent an increase on rate hikes on consumers.

“With the economy still in flux, it’s important to give the people I represent opportunities to alleviate some of the financial pressures faced at home,” Crespo said. “This phone bill clinic is just one way in which I’m working to help my constituents save money during difficult financial times.”
